

'Not closed to business with China, but national security key'

NEW DELHI: India is "not closed to business deals with China, though businesses need to factor in national security consequences because all countries are not the same, external affairs minister S Jaishankar said on Tuesday. Jaishankar made the remarks while participating in a discussion with his German counterpart Annalena Baerbock as part of the annual ambassadors' conference of the German foreign office in Berlin. He was responding to questions from business leaders about challenges confronting India and the country's trade relations with China. "We are not closed to business from China. It's the second largest economy in the world, it's a premium manufacturer. There's nobody who can say I won't do business with China," he said while replying to a specific question on trade and investments with China. "I think the issue is which sectors do you do business, he said, outlining India's position on trading against the backdrop of a dragging military standoff with China on the Line of Actual Control (LAC) that began in April 2020. "It's far more complicated than a black and white, binary answer," he said.

KOCHI: The Kerala high court on Tuesday slammed the "alarmingly lethargic" response of the state government to the Justice Hema Committee report, which has sparked allegations of sexual abuse against prominent figures in the Malayalam film industry, and said the administration cannot "remain a mute spectator" to social and economic injustices meted out to women.

A special bench of justices AK Jayasankaran Nambiar and CS Sudha observed that the report was submitted by the panel in 2010 but the state government did not even do the "bare minimum" of deciding if it agreed with its findings.

It directed the government to hand over the report, including the redacted portions, of the committee to a special investigation team (SIT) probing the sexual abuse allegations against male professionals in the Kerala film industry.

"... the conduct of the state executive has been alarmingly lethargic. We are taken aback by the lack of action by the state government... Although the report of the Justice Hema committee was submitted to the state government as early as on 31.12.2019, there was no action taken thereon for well over four years, and even thereafter, it took a litigation to spur the state into action, and that too only in respect of one of the many issues that were flagged by the Justice Hema committee," the bench said, while hearing a clutch of petitions pertaining to the report.

It directed the government to hand over the report, including the redacted portions, of the committee to a special investigation team (SIT) probing the sexual abuse allegations against male professionals in the Kerala film industry.
